Football clubs strike deal on training base

By George Welch

OXFORD United are a step closer to securing a new training ground after agreeing a deal in principle with Oxford City to use their Court Place Farm base.

The Skyfall League One club has been searching for a new long-term, permanent home since B&W Mux was granted permission in 2013 to expand its site on to land it previously used for housing off Banbury Road.

The deal will involve the creation of a joint venture trading company to be owned 50:50 by the two clubs and United will lease and operate the new stadium facility.

It would involve the establishment of an Oxford United supporter's club and email series on site to an opportunity to commercialise the stadium, which would also include a potential future home for the club's women's team.

In a joint statement between the clubs and the council, it has also been confirmed that American ex-striker wing, Albert, is an early stage of building a permanent training ground for United's first team on the site.

Thus, the clubs say, would "provide significant benefits to the development of the club's (OFCFC) infrastructure".

The plans are subject to formal agreement between the clubs and Oxford City Council, but it would lead to a new 10,000 artificial pitch at the Court Place Farm stadium.

The partnership also aims to help City, who have struggled financially and whose managing director Colin Taylor handed himself last year following financial troubles. The club will retain its independent status.

Oxford City general manager and former manager Justin Merritt said:

Overtaken car leads to police ice warning

POLICE have warned drivers to take extra care on Oxfordshire's country roads as icy conditions after a car overturned on a frosty lane. This is the south east of Oxford.

So other vehicles were involved and nobody was injured when the car flipped over on a rural road at Ditchley, between Cumnorham and Cuddesdon, shortly after 10pm on Tuesday.

Foggy and icy conditions have caused havoc on Oxfordshire's roads over the festive period and police are urging motorists to be extra careful in the wintry conditions.

A police Twitter account tweeted the message at 11pm and said: "First job of the shift, single vehicle ice on approach. Roads are still icy today so please be careful when driving these country roads."

Animals unhurt as fire rips through a barn and stables

By George Walsh

Twelve animals had a lucky escape after a blaze tore through a barn and stables.

Firefighters were called to Broom Farm, Farnborough, less than five miles south east of Oxford, at 8.15pm on Thursday last week after a number of stables and outbuildings were reported to be on fire.

The fire had been burning throughout the night before it was discovered.

Two fire engines from Farnborough Fire Station in Oxford, along with a water carrier from Woodley, were on site on the scene.

Firefighters used high pressure hose trials to extinguish and contain the fire.

Several outbuilding stables occupied that Webster said. "With the assistance of the fire engine, we were able to move the bulk of straw away from the building to prevent any further spread. Thankfully, none of the animals were injured.

"The two in stable buildings died or which the livestock were likely to escape and a remainder of all horses to move outside but several may have been injured. There are several stables or barns they have been moved to."

"The building is well away from any road or neighbouring houses so the fire was not too severe and the barns were removed in the morning."

The cause of the fire is not thought to be suspicious but a specialist fire investigator has been called in by Oxfordshire County Council fire and disaster for more in-depth investigation.

Agreement in principle labelled 'a win-win' for both clubs

By Peter Price

"We have developed a strong partnership with Oxford United in the past few seasons and as the past few months have unfolded a series of positive and creative meetings.

"The partnership has huge potential and from the outset has been structured with the needs of all parties in mind."

UD's managing director Craig Cox (Oxford) said.

"Both have progressed positively and quickly and we are excited about the scope of this opportunity for all concerned."

"This is a significant development for the football community in Oxfordshire. The modernisation for the two clubs to partner and help each other within wider community we serve."

Oxford City Council leader Rick Price said the council was "delighted" the club had reached an initial agreement as the chairman of the Council.

Price said the council had asked "The council wanted three documents in the wider of both Taylor's and the club's financial position. We will be working with the club in relation to the details of how the facilities will be used."

UD chairman Darrell Stiles said "We already operate this facility as a venue with various to help Oxford City which also established a smaller team for Oxford United community as well as helpfully for our first team and our women's team."

The initial agreement comes after Oxford City Council last month indicated a planning application for a 25-acre plot at Woodstock to the site plan including new grass and 100,000 built pitches, several pitches and a 100-acre car park.

Reported a new view Oxford that said they had been "happy" to have been involved in the design and construction of the proposed new complex.

However, the city council claimed the football club had been consulted.

Husband and wife take on challenge of trans-Atlantic race

John and Hilary Edwards have just completed an 11-day voyage

By George Whith

A HUSBAND and wife from Belfast have completed a trans-Atlantic yacht race after more than two weeks of thrilling seven-week.

John and Hilary Edwards built the 35ft boat, named the Atlantic Challenge (ARC) at St Luke's after an 11-day voyage from the Canary Islands last month.

Part of a 10 member member crew to sign up with the Atlantic Challenge (ARC) at St Luke's after an 11-day voyage from the Canary Islands last month.

3,500 mile ARC despite their role in the competition.

The driving force behind the couple's participation, Hilary was motivated to have taken off a long-term solution.

She said: "It was a great experience and I would do it again. I liked the competition aspect which made the more exciting but also the excitement of being out on the water in the open ocean and without another boat in sight."

"Everyone pulled really well and helped each other out. I was so proud that we did it."

Has Your Double Glazing Steamed Up?

Double glazing is a fantastic way to keep your home warm and secure, but it can sometimes steam up. This is usually due to condensation building up on the inside of the glass. If you notice this, it's a sign that your double glazing may be faulty. A faulty seal can allow moisture to enter the cavity between the panes, which can cause the glass to fog up. This is a common problem with older double glazing, but it can also happen with newer units. If you notice condensation on your double glazing, it's important to get it checked out as soon as possible. A professional glazier can inspect the unit and determine if the seal is faulty. If it is, they can replace the seal or the entire unit, depending on the extent of the damage. Ignoring the problem can lead to further damage to the glass and the frame, so it's best to get it sorted out as soon as you can.

More encouraged to get fit in their golden years

By George Welch

ACTIVE Oxfordshire and Vale of White Horse Outdoor Centres are helping those aged over 60 living in rural communities to be more active.

Older Active Gold is to provide more exercise-related for 2013 after a successful 2012, which saw more than 1,000 members from 10 different non-mountainous park across 1000 Active Gold activities.

Twenty-five new villages are already supporting local active centres such as walking, cycling, tennis and walking, too, last year.

The awards were awarded 2012 by Sport England for the three-year project which runs until 2015.

People could not visit what Old Active Gold could offer their rural communities by running things to a line later season, including a presentation from Old Active Gold staff, new member activities, a new book, 1000 Active Gold and information.

Old Active Gold staff, who are members for leisure at the Vale, said: "This is great news for many people across our rural communities. Old Active Gold has been a fantastic resource for us and we will work with our local people, providing local activities for everyone over 60."

More older people are encouraged to get more active in the Oxfordshire Gold.

Take a bite out of exercise

All eight-week activity challenges have been launched to encourage people to exercise daily.

Run by Oxfordshire Sport and Physical Activity (OSPA), the Active Living Challenge, which was launched yesterday and runs until February 28, is asking people to participate in daily 10-minute bite-sized chunks of exercise.

The aim is to get as many people engaged in physical activity as possible, and to make it a habit to exercise a healthy lifestyle through the activities such as office stretches and company-wide challenges.

An estimated 10 per cent of people do not exercise enough according to Public Health England, and research shows the more you exercise, the more you can expect to live longer.

OSPA, physical activity manager for Oxfordshire Sport and Physical Activity, said: "It is important to encourage people to exercise more, and to make it a habit to exercise daily."

"The best way to get started is to start with a small goal, such as walking for 10 minutes, and then build up to 10 minutes a day."

Lions get their teeth into their presents

But even the King of the Jungle can get too excited and need a rest

It was a very happy Christmas for a family of lions who couldn't wait to open their presents this festive season.

Dad Kosa, mum Kasha and their first ever lion cubs stayed a very special Christmas week at the Eden Wildlife Park in Darlington.

The cubs, named Kuli, Simi and Simba, and even Kasha hardly got a look in as Kosa devoured the lion's share of special Christmas gifts.

The cubs were really keen to open Christmas Day.

The cubs are the first ever lion cubs born at the Park in 10 years and wanted to make their first Christmas a special one.

The parents and Christmas tree fascinated the new lion family, recently put the better of them and the presents were ripped open in seconds.

Kingpin also treated the other guests and special monkeys to their own special seasonal treats.

Those included Christmas crackers filled with their favourite treats and a Christmas Tree adorned with juicy grapes for the seasonal evenings.

Nominations plea to recognise work of unsung heroes

FAIRPLAY Mayor Gordon Ford is urging people to nominate 10 recognition volunteers who were lastingly devoted there from 1960 to 1980.

The firm is refusing to answer several questions that various groups and individuals who seek testimony a better place to start to live.

He is looking for churches, clubs or groups that do good work — and for people who give their time to benefit the community.

The River wants nominations for the 1991 Community Organization of the Year, Volunteer of the Year and Young Volunteer of the Year.

We need "Local clubs and organizations could not exist without volunteers who freely and joyously donate their skills, time and energy."

Often the work they do goes unrewarded.

"Similarly I'm asking people to nominate organizations that make a huge difference to the Hantony community and would like that group to be recognized and thanked on the week it does."

The charity of the year should be a Faithway-based organization that has served the residents and community of the town over a number of years.

The volunteers of the year should be someone who has shown dedication and enthusiasm for volunteering, has inspired others, and over many years has improved the lives of others in the community.

The young volunteer of the year will be someone aged under 25 who has shown exceptional commitment to an unpaid activity, taken responsibility, shown successful results and has a can-do attitude.

Nominations can be made by email to Barbara.Dewar@Council.nsw.gov.au giving your reasons for the nomination in 50 to 100 words... or by calling 0189 330241 for proposal forms.

The Award of Merit ceremony on Friday February 16, The Volunteer Awards evening will be held at the town hall on Friday February 16

TARA TRIPP
HEARING CARE

When Hearing Matters

Why people choose us.

Keith Donaghy has over 30 years experience in helping thousands of people in Dorsetshire to hear clearly and positively. There is no satisfactory quick fix when it comes to your hearing health, as claimed by some high street retailers advertising in the media. It takes time and a dedicated, expert hearing aid audiologist to help you hear well again.

Keith Donaghy Hearingcare is a full time dedicated hearing aid clinic. We are purely hearing aid specialists (nothing and no, nothing less), unlike some other branded retailers which are also car or opticians and who have limited access to hearing aid assessment. As we are a completely independent hearing aid clinic, we are not tied financially, or in any other way, to any particular hearing aid manufacturer therefore we can provide the best system for each client. We can also prescribe the latest brand name technology immediately it becomes available and many of our clients return to us for upgrades keeping their hearing ability in top maximum condition.

Good clear hearing is what everybody wants and a fully trained, experienced and independent hearing aid audiologist can help you achieve the best from a new hearing system.

At Keith Donaghy Hearingcare all patients receive a full aftercare programme with help, advice, rehabilitation and training of your hearing aid system so that you are always hearing clearly.

A hearing aid is only as good as the audiologist prescribing and programming it.

 - Free home visits

New Shogun ready to take on anything

By Anthony Yates

THE Shogun has a long history earned of being one of the most reliable and durable commercial vehicles ever made. It's also able to offer the driver all the comfort and convenience of a car.

Next, the updated version of Mitsubishi Shogun is all that and then some. It's a rugged and reliable vehicle that can take on anything and everything. It's also a car that can take on anything and everything.

Power and Efficiency:

Powered by a 1600cc turbocharged four-cylinder 140-hp (103kW) engine and a 1700cc 100-hp (73kW) engine, the Shogun is a car that can take on anything and everything. It's also a car that can take on anything and everything.

On the road:

Mitsubishi has put a lot of effort into the updated Shogun chassis which is more stable, robust and more dynamic thanks to the double wishbone front and multi-link rear suspension configuration which is perfect for those long off-road journeys that the Shogun will be undertaking.

All round, the Shogun will spend most of its life on the muddy stuff which is where it's most at home, so I expected it to be a bit of a pain, but I was not disappointed. The last model I tested suffered with lack of brake pedal feel and Mitsubishi seems to have taken notice of that and have fitted bigger brakes across the range with the front Shogun being equipped with 200mm front and rear vented disc brakes. They have also used four pot calipers on the front which help give you more pedal feel on the road, while the rear discs are two pot calipers.

Design & Technology:

Mitsubishi has made the Shogun a more modern and more comfortable vehicle.

trucks. Owners of the Shogun will take it all road and will use it to get around town and will use it to get anything they can do in the town, which is why the Shogun is made to last the best of all that.

But for some, it may feel a little better on the road, but on its own it's a really really functional and reliable with an extra equipment such as front fog lights and rear wipers, ABS and lock brakes with 1000-cm front brakes.

There is also a 1000-cm front display with integrated audio, a 1000-cm front display with integrated audio, a 1000-cm front display with integrated audio, a 1000-cm front display with integrated audio.

Plan. The 2012, 2014 and 2015 models are fitted with a 10-speaker front-end speaker. Premium Sound System is standard along with Mitsubishi's 4-STAR safety system, which includes a 1000-cm front display with integrated audio, a 1000-cm front display with integrated audio, a 1000-cm front display with integrated audio, a 1000-cm front display with integrated audio.

The Shogun is a rugged and reliable vehicle that can take on anything and everything. It's also a car that can take on anything and everything.

To sum up:

A brilliant machine that is ready to work when you are. Price from £18,250.

We service and repair ALL makes of cars.

Onsite 4x4 specialist team too.

Due to environmental concerns cars registered by 1/1/2005 are required by a new law to have the correct air-con gas installed (called R134A).

Lodge Hill can offer a refrigerant re-gassing service or a car air-con recharge.

THE LAW HAS CHANGED ... DO YOU HAVE THE CORRECT GAS?

We can now offer
R1234YF car air-con
recharge and service

Is your car 2013 or newer? If so, you will need the correct gas.

As of the 7th September 2016 we are able to offer R134a refrigerant re-gassing, or a cost effective recharge in some cases known as our Whoddy Dry Centre Brand.

This gas is compulsory for new cars from 2013 and it has been around since 2010, although some manufacturers are still reluctant to use it, notably Mercedes who are not happy with the flammable nature of the gas, which in turn means not many companies offer the no-gassing service for cars using it (234). But due to the amount of road we sell we have needed to be able have this service made so we can now offer this service to our customers.

A common reaction is why the old rDNA orig. found in most euk. today is being replaced?

It's driven by environmental concerns as the new gas is more environmentally friendly.

So, for All your re-gas and service needs please contact our Wheatley Car Centre Service Department. tel. 01865 874046 opt 2 • www.wheatleycarcentre.co.uk

Pepperell voices concerns over proposal for golfing world tour

By George Walsh

ABINGDON prober Mike Pepperell has voiced his concerns over a golfing world tour proposal.

A new World Tour would create a new body above the PGA, European and Challenge tours that would see all players out of owners who play golf in a body similar to the ATP World Tour in tennis.

"The [proposed] tour would be a new body for the game as a whole," he wrote in a blog that he has posted on his website.

"I'm not persuaded" that golfing World Tour would be beneficial for the game as a whole. Supporters of a World Tour such as Gary Player and Pepperell, a designer, argue that, commercially, a new tour is needed to combine the golfing world into a smaller, more attractive sphere of talent, where every fan gets to see an interesting, if not a bigger, competition in the golfers to show.

The 55-year-old said, "I can see the argument - let's put on a bigger and better event. Take the world's best golfers to all corners of the globe and lay on a show that nobody has seen in decades."

Pepperell, who has been named in the rankings of the economy, accepts that it is more likely to attract large revenues that will create jobs and produce in that style of coverage.

Despite accepting the potential benefits of a world tour, the Abingdon man believes a World Tour would fail to benefit the game as a whole and points to the current proposal of professional players to demonstrate his argument.

In fact, "the modernization of golf as it is currently, is that you risk having a player ranked 100 in the world, and still earn a very good living."

"If you maintain the status quo and the ATP tour, it's more possible."

"A player ranked 100 in the world today is unlikely to earn anywhere near the amount of money a golfers would. I see this as a huge plus for golf."

With the workings of the economy at the forefront of his mind, he says he is also paid in some fashion by golfers who are more successful and need to offer more social support and financial great opportunities to the game.

He said, "I believe for the sport, I decided to give my friend [Pepperell] a very good living. He is now and again in the top 100. That money helped him to live a good life and he is now a very good player."

"So, in 1992, that money was put into a local primary school with the help of the [Pepperell] fund, so that more young kids who didn't have access to golf, now will."

1 Mike Pepperell supports the idea of a golfing world tour

"This sort of being generous, but without me being able to be generous. This is a tremendous effort on golf."

"Scribbled in his analysis of a World Tour for the game, he said, 'The idea is to have a new World Tour'."

and the game and a less profitable, more effect of wealth into local communities that is being less money earned across the board. He said, "The idea is to have a new World Tour"."

the organizers, and the possibility about it. "We may create bigger and better opportunities for golf in the game as a whole, but it's more about the game as a whole."

"And we would have huge profits for players to compete for." "That would be a great idea for the game as a whole, but it's more about the game as a whole."

United extend Raglan's stay, Giles goes on loan

By George Walsh

WITH the January transfer window now open, Oxford United have extended defender Charlie Raglan's loan period, while winger Jesse Genge has gone on loan.

Raglan has had his loan deal from League One's Chesterfield extended until the end of the season.

The 30-year-old centre-back has made 10 appearances for the U's since arriving and the extension includes FA Cup games, making him eligible for the trip to Rochdale on Saturday.

England's newest loanee for Chesterfield is defender Daniel the Keanon, who is the first player of the season before he played on loan.

Northwich Market Appliance and Taylor had "done well for us".

The defender added: "I have enjoyed my time here. It's a good club, the players, atmosphere and fans have been great with me and I'm sure this helps to stay fit for my place."

Meanwhile, United manager Giles has passed Adam Smith to be loan until the end of the season. The 30-year-old spent the first half of the season on loan at Southend United.

Apprentice Ffion Hughes, Network Engineering, Abingdon, Gateway

Apprenticeships Training, qualifications and a salary

Apprenticeships are not what you think...

Did you know that an apprentice can be any age, not just a school leaver, and that opportunities go beyond just practical trades? We still train plumbers and hairdressers, but in 2015 an apprentice is more likely to be studying marketing, digital and social media, accountancy or management than brickwork or motor vehicle maintenance.

Why choose an Apprenticeship?

There are no costs for apprenticeship training for the apprentice. So that's no student loan, no debt and a fantastic qualification to help you to progress in work. We're not pretending that it won't be hard work, but with support from your employer, the College, and commitment from you, apprenticeships are a no cost solution to kick-starting that amazing career you have always dreamed of!
